Introduction

Narrabri Shire has a rich diversity of heritage - Aboriginal, buildings, collections, cultural landscapes, memorials, monuments, precincts, streetscapes, and within villages. Heritage is increasingly integral to community well-being, economic sustainability and to grow sectors such as tourism.

The Policy follows the New South Wales (NSW) Heritage Guidelines 2002, Recommendations for Local Government Heritage Management (rev. 2011), the Department of Environment and Climate Change NSW Due Diligence Code for Practice for Protection of Aboriginal Objects in NSW 2010, and the Australia International Council on Monuments and Sites (ICOMOS) Burra Charter. The Strategy headings reflect those in the NSW Heritage Office Guidelines.
